2. Nature and purpose of personal data processing

The Karlsruher Messe- und Kongress GmbH uses your data including information about your company or organisation for the purpose of organising and conducting the event and in connection with your attendance at the event.

When you purchase or register a ticket, a user account is automatically created in the ticket store. This allows you to view and, if necessary, change the data you have entered. You can access your user account via a one-time password, which will be sent to the e-mail address you have provided.

The data will also be used for the purpose of providing you with services or products you request and for the purpose of transferring information (also via email) about the event as well as about thematically related events of the Karlsruher Messe- und Kongress GmbH.

Should you be invited by an exhibitor, the information you provide will be forwarded to the exhibitor and, if necessary, stored in the database of the inviting exhibitor. The data collected here serve the purpose of registering you for the event and informing the exhibitor of your attendance at the event.

The data processing is carried out on the basis of fulfilling a contract, pursuant to Article 6(1)(b) of the European Union's General Data Protection Regulation

Stand: 2025-03-31

(GDPR), as well as on the basis of legitimate interests of the data controller to transfer information (also via email) about the event as well as about thematically related events of the Karlsruher Messe- und Kongress GmbH, pursuant to Article 6(1)(f) of the GDPR.

The data collected will be deleted once the purpose has been fulfilled where the data is not subject to any other statutory retention and documentation obligations, pursuant to Article 6(1)(c) of the GDPR, unless you have given your consent to the retention of your data for other purposes, pursuant to Article 6(1)(a) of the GDPR.

Note on the use of the lead tracking service

During the event, all exhibitors will be offered a lead tracking service with which the individual exhibitor scans the barcode on your admission ticket and thus – similar to a business card – receives your contact details. In detail, we process the following data:

Company name, title, first and last name, function, postal address, country, telephone number(s), email address as well as any other details you may have provided about interests and/or your company.

In individual cases, you can make a specific decision on the disclosure of your data by offering your admission ticket to the respective exhibitor for scanning. There will be no unnoticed recording of data without your consent. In accordance with the international character of the trade fair (or congress), exhibitors are also represented who are based outside the European Union and therefore outside the scope of the European data protection laws. Here, too, you can object or agree to the transfer of your data in individual cases by withdrawing or offering your admission ticket for scanning.

3. Disclosure of data to third parties

Your personal data will not be transferred to third parties (except in the case of the aforementioned exhibitor).

4. Rights of the data subject

You have the following rights:

The right to withdrawal: You have the right to withdraw the consent you have provided at any time, pursuant to Article 7(3) of the GDPR. The right to restrict processing: You have the right to obtain restriction of processing of your personal data, pursuant to Article 18 of the GDPR, where you contest the accuracy of the personal data; the processing is unlawful and you oppose the erasure of the personal data; we no longer need the personal data for the purposes of the processing, but we need the data for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims; or you have objected to processing pursuant to Article 21 of the GDPR.
